

IN THE SPECIFICATION:

Please replace the paragraph at page p.12, lines 4-14, with the following:

-- The present invention preferably uses Assignable Computing Devices (ACDs) as programming subsystem 12 audiovisual serving devices in various applications. An ACD may be any computing device capable of performing a task assigned to it. Such devices are intended to include, but not be limited to, game computing devices such as the NINTENDO 64 (TM) a product of the Nintendo Corporation of Japan and the SONY PLAYSTATION (TM) a product of the Sony Corporation of Japan, Apple-based personal computers available from Apple Computer Corp. of Cupertino, California, UNIX-based computers available from a number of vendors, single-purpose application devices such as computing chips with pre-programmed application programs loaded from read-only memory (ROM), and the like. --